

BUSINESS PERSONA BRIEF

Young Group

Tran Thuy Tien

Online weight loss coaching for the Vietnamese diaspora

- Draft for review — a few items to confirm together

Young Group is a founder-led online weight loss program built specifically for Vietnamese diaspora women who have tried losing weight before and failed. The brand's core strength is specificity: personalized meal plans prepared in about 15 minutes, exact client results, and a double money-back guarantee. A confirmed 226,000-follower Facebook audience and a referral-driven client base underpin the social proof. The website's job is to convert a skeptical, time-pressured buyer by surfacing proof fast and making the program feel straightforward to start.

- The primary audience is Vietnamese women aged 30–60, concentrated in the USA, who have a history of failed weight loss attempts. (Recommended, strong evidence.)
- The business holds a clear niche: Vietnamese-language coaching delivered across six confirmed countries, with personalized pre-prepped meals, no-hunger assurance, and a money-back guarantee as the main trust levers.
- Buyers arrive with high skepticism and past failure. The website must lead with specific proof (named clients, real numbers, 226,000 Facebook followers) and reduce friction to the first step.
- Pricing is approximately $699, revealed after the first consultation call. The site should build enough trust to earn that call, not to close on price directly.
- Three items need client confirmation before copy is finalized: credentials, book publication status, and client count / founding year. These are detailed in the final section.

How the brand is positioned

POSITIONING STATEMENT

For Vietnamese women who have tried every diet and still can't lose weight, Young Group is the online program that delivers simple, proven results — in your language, with personalized meals you can prep in 15 minutes — backed by a full money-back guarantee.

Recommended

Strong evidence. Pending primary audience confirmation.

CORE PROBLEM

The weight loss industry overwhelms buyers with complicated protocols and restrictive diets. This produces repeated failure, especially for Vietnamese diaspora women who have tried many approaches and still carry the weight.

MARKET POSITION

Young Group holds a specific niche: Vietnamese-language weight loss coaching for the diaspora, delivered online across six active countries. The program's approach to simplicity — personalized meal plans, pre-prepped ingredients with roughly 15 minutes of cooking, no going hungry — and its double money-back guarantee distinguish it from generic English-language wellness programs that don't address this audience's language, culture, or history of trying and not succeeding.

DIFFERENTIATORS

- Fully personalized meal plans by body type — every plan built around the individual client

- Clients report lower grocery costs and less cooking time than before starting
- Double money-back guarantee — stated twice in distinct language on the same page

What the website is optimizing for

BUYER URGENCY

High

Countdown timer on a 50% discount creates time pressure. Medical-outcome testimonials (diabetes, blood pressure, blood lipids resolved) signal health urgency beyond appearance goals.

Recommended

TRUST BURDEN

High

The brand has engineered against deep buyer skepticism: double guarantee language, hyper-specific testimonial measurements with names and locations. No third-party review platform presence compounds the trust gap on a new site.

Recommended

MAIN OBJECTION

"Will it be complicated? Will I have to spend a lot of time cooking, or go hungry?"

Counter: meals are pre-prepped with roughly 15 minutes of cooking. Clients do not go hungry — confirmed. The objection is real; the program is designed to answer it directly.

Recommended

PROOF NEEDED

Specific client count + success rate

Named testimonials with numbers (already on site)

226,000 Facebook followers — confirmed, use exact figure

Money-back guarantee (move earlier in page flow)

Recommended

PRIMARY CTA

VOICE RULES

- 01 Lead with the outcome, then the method. Never lead with program features.
- 02 Use exact numbers whenever possible. Round numbers read as invented.
- 03 Pair every claim with a name, a number, or a guarantee.
- 04 Keep sentences short. This audience skims in a second language.
- 05 Use "ban" (you) framing. Direct address, not third-person beneficiary language.

Recommended

MESSAGING PATTERNS

Let's confirm a few things together

Three items remain before copy can be finalized. Nothing blocks planning or the website blueprint.

01 CREDENTIALS

What certifications or credentials does Tran Thuy Tien hold beyond book authorship?

Whether it's a nutrition certification, health coaching license, or clinical training shapes the entire trust section of the site. We haven't found any credential externally beyond the book — worth confirming together so we don't understate what you have.

02 BOOK CREDENTIAL

Is "Beo oi vinh biet" commercially published with a publisher and ISBN, or self-published?

The book is cited on your website and it's a real credential. The answer determines how we present it — a traditionally published book carries different weight than a self-published one, and we want to frame it accurately.

03 SOCIAL PROOF SCALE

How many clients have completed the program, and what year was Young Group founded?

A specific client count ("500+ clients") is the single most impactful proof element currently missing from the site. The founding year gives us a credibility anchor. Both of these belong prominently on the new site once confirmed.
